MAUI TEACHERS SEEKING LONGER SCHOOL PERIOD

Maui public school principals have petitioned the school commission to extend the closing hour of all schools on the Valley Island from 2 until 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

This petition is now awaiting action by the commission, which met this morning for its annual meeting. The Maui principals say they need the extra half hour principally for vocational work.

Practically the entire morning was devoted by the commission to routine work, and the appointment of teachers or the coming school year probably will not be reached until tomorrow. One of the new appointments to be made is that of statistician, a position created by the last legislature to take the place of the inspector-general.

Those attending the annual meeting are Supt. Henry W. Kinney, Inspector George S. Raymond, E. A. Knudson, Mrs. E. D. Bond, W. H. Smith, Mrs. Theodore Richards, L. G. Blackman, and D. C. Lindsey.

TRANSPORT MAY HAVE MET HEAVY WEATHER, DELAYED

Concerning the transport Thomas, about which there have been inquiries, Asst. Col. James B. Houston, department quartermaster, said at noon today:

"I have cabled to San Francisco for more definite information. I think the Thomas is meeting heavy weather, which has delayed her. The vessel's hull is quite full, too, as she has not seen on drydock for about a year. She is just coming in slowly, I believe." Other arrangements have been made to send to San Francisco the 54 non-commissioned negro officers of the 5th Infantry who have been ordered to the mainland, where they will be given commissions without the usual examinations, owing to the existing wartime emergency.

SALES ON BOARD ARE RECORDED

After a respite of 24 hours, due to the election holiday, the Stock Exchange showed some revival of activity at this morning's session, two sales being recorded at the session with a listing of four between board. A block of five of Oahu Sugar went at 29 3/4 and 10 of Onomea at 54. Among the unlisted securities Montana Bingham was active, sale of a block of 11,250 being recorded at 34 while another batch of 2500 went at 35.

30 PRISONERS TO WORK AT KAPIOLANI PARK

In reply to a letter from the board of supervisors asking for 50 territorial prisoners to work at Kapiolani park, I. M. Stainback, attorney general, has written that it will be possible to supply 30 prisoners beginning June 19. He also informs the board that two overseers will be necessary and suggests that appropriations of $85 be made to pay each overseer.

DAILY REMINDERS

The "tryers" are the winners—and every classified advertiser is trying to accomplish some task.

STAR-BULLETIN RETURNS DRAW RECORD CROWD

Thousands of interested persons, men and women, thronged King street from Fort to Bethel streets last night to watch the Star-Bulletin election returns, which were thrown on a big screen over the store of W. W. Diamond & Co. Inclement weather failed to dampen the ardor of the spectators and a little after 11 o'clock, when the "Good Night" slide was flashed on the white square, hundreds of persons were still in the street.

By the aid of staff members, special messengers, boy scouts and friends, who gathered every bit of available data from the various precincts and from Democratic and Republican headquarters, the Star-Bulletin was able to flash totals and partial returns on the screen a few moments after they had been figured out by the election inspectors. Because of the short balloting the counting of the vote was done quickly, and the news that J. J. Fern was elected mayor was flashed on the screen at 10:30 o'clock.

The big crowd that watched the Star-Bulletin returns was largely a Democratic one, and prolonged cheers for Fern and Charles H. Rose rent the air each time the returns showed these candidates forging ahead. A picture of L. L. "Link" McCandless, one of the Bourbon managers, also brought cheers. But the crowd was not without its Republican sympathizers and there was cheering aplenty for John C. Lane, "Eddie" Hopkins and the Republican supervisors.

Complete returns from the country precincts came in early and the Star-Bulletin was able to throw these on the screen as soon as dusk fell.

The Star-Bulletin's election headquarters were in the Waity building in the office of N. K. Young, manufacturer's agent. The stereotyping machine was operated by Representative Eddie Fernandez, who has assisted the Star-Bulletin during the last several elections.

JUDGE HEEN PASSES OUT FIRST JAIL TERMS, TWO FALLING VICTIMS

Circuit Judge W. H. Heen pronounced his first sentences today and two men will spend the next few years in Oahu prison.

Al Ke, charged with an assault with a weapon, pleaded guilty. It was alleged he used a knife on Henry Burr and his wife, Adeline Burr, in a row near Kawaiahaoho church about a month ago. He was sentenced to serve two years in prison. Mrs. Burr is reported still to be in the hospital.

Juan Campos, a Filipino, pleaded not guilty to a statutory offense against Rosaline Ross, who is less than 12 years old, and the case was tried by a jury. Campos was convicted and sentenced to not less than three years.

LAND OFFICE APPLICATION
According to word received at the territorial land office, the following applicants have chosen lots in the Kaahuhu district, North Kohala, Hawaii, for homesteading:

Ella L. Sprout, B. H. Kelleheemau, James Kappa, George Paena, John Bell, Moses A. Aulu, Chong Hing Tang, James W. P. Kalepa, Paul Kaelomakula, Alice Renton Bond and George Ross.

Up to noon today 121 applications for homestead lots in Waipaa district, Kaula, had been filed at the office.

HISTORY OF CAPITOL
WILL BE TOLD SOON
BY CORRIDOR FRAMES

Tourists who visit the Capitol building after July 1 will not need to ask the janitor and elevator boy for information on the past history of the structure, for Charles R. Forbes, superintendent of public works, will put that history in frames to hang in the corridors.

Forbes said today he plans to put one frame on each floor where it can be seen plainly by those who visit the building. The story of the old palace, always asked for by strangers, will be printed neatly and attractively. The frames are to go up just as soon as the July appropriation money is available. Forbes also suggests that booklets giving the history of the palace may be kept on hand for distribution to visitors.

WEDS TACOMA GIRL

Tuesday afternoon C. Dwight Ball and Miss Vera Maurith were united in marriage by the Rev. Leon L. Loofbourov in the First M. E. church. Witnesses were W. S. Beach and Leigh R. Neff.

The bridegroom is a linotype operator on the Advertiser, having been connected with the paper for several months. His bride arrived from her home in Tacoma for the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Ball will live in this city.

ANTHRAX HITS GARDEN ISLAND; SPREAD FEARED

Senator Charles A. Rice of Kaula, who visited Honolulu early this week, reports there is still considerable fear that the anthrax may spread from the district of its origin on the Garden Island, although the infected section is closely guarded and every precaution taken to confine it to the original area.

Deaths due to the disease in the last week or ten days on Kaula have been among the calves, born since the anthrax outbreak, of cows that were inoculated against it. As yet, however, the malady has not been detected in the neighboring or more distant regions.

Rice also says war time gardening is becoming popular on the Garden Island, and that there is much planting of Irish potatoes and the so-called Guam variety of corn. All the Guam corn available has been planted, and because there is so much land remaining on which it could be grown, practically all of the forthcoming crop likely will be kept as seed.

DENIAL MADE OF SQUABBLE OVER ELECTION INSPECTOR

Republicans in the fourteenth precinct, fifth district, said today that the report yesterday of an argument at the polling-booth between Daniel McGregor and others was exaggerated. McGregor, who is an inspector for the board of health, is said still to hold his commission as an election inspector, and went to the booth yesterday, though three Democrats had already been named. The county clerk decided against him, but McGregor, who is a skilled inspector and judge, gave voluntary help last night in hastening the returns from this precinct, which were the last to be reported.

REGISTRATION BY SELECTIVE DRAFT IS GROWING FAST

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 6.—The registration of men under the new selective draft law is equaling the census estimates. Judge Advocate-General Crowder announces that liberality will be shown in handling the failures to register, believing that most of the instances are in good faith and are not deliberate evasions of the law.

With more than ten million estimated registrations filed yesterday, the day set aside by proclamation of the president for the taking of names for America's great national army passed off quietly. Not a single untoward event marked it anywhere and the plots of the pacifists and anti-draft leaders fell flat in the face of a perfect harmony on the part of the people of the United States.

There were no tabulations until today, but the authorities are confident that at least ten million men of military age, between twenty-one and thirty, inclusive of both ages, gave their names and signified their willingness to serve their country against the Hun menace.

Thousands Ignore Exemption Right

One of the chief features of the registration, which proved a surprise to the officials charged with the work of getting the names, was the fact that hundreds of thousands of men refused to take advantage of the exemptions provided for by the law. They merely declined to answer the questions as provided by the law, outlining their reasons why they should be exempt from military duty.

The department of justice had made enormous preparations for handling the registration and was prepared to meet and overcome considerable opposition. Instead of this the people appeared to be acting with a singleness of purpose that was remarkable and the machinery provided by the department was not called upon. Illustrating this it was announced last night that only four arrests had been reported officially late last night.

Some Trouble from Laborites

In some sections of the country it is true, there was more or less trouble from the laborites and the anarchists. In Butte, Montana, where the unions are particularly strong it was found necessary to proclaim martial law. Trouble followed a number of "red flag" parades organized by the laborite element.

Anti-conscription propaganda met with a hot reception in Omaha, Nebraska. E. E. Ensign, a Socialist, launched into a tirade on the streets against the draft law. A crowd of 3000 started him going up the street and set out after him in full cry. Ensign was rescued by the police before any material injury was done to him. The state secretary of the Nebraska Socialists resigned, declaring that he had no sympathy with the anti-draft sentiment of the organization and would refuse to continue his connection with them.

New Blouses of Great Charm and Unusual Pricing

Compared with present prices these are unusually low, with no moderation in the smartness of the designing, the quality of the materials and the standard of making and trimming.

They are copies of the daintiest high priced models that have been designed for the coming season, and they are not behind the originals that have found so much favor by fashionable women in highest social circles. And best of all, they form an exquisite harmony with the new season suits, thus completing your costume admirably.
